Mr. Eric P. Newman
6450 Cecil Avenue
St. Louis, Missouri 63100

Dear Mr. Newman:

My grateful thanks for your kind words about my B. Franklin bibliography and my apologies for being so tardy in acknowledging your June letter. Both your publications and personal communications were very helpful to me in my work and I am appreciative that I could turn to a widely acknowledged specialist when I needed to.

You are quite right about B. Franklin's being the printer of the loan office bond dated 9 Sept., 1736. Franklin handled the job printing for the trustees from the early 1730's and of course did not print his name or business address on forms ordered and paid for by a proprietary agency.

I am pleased to hear that your Early Paper Money volume is to go into a second and Bicentennial edition. It must be popular with collectors. It certainly was a key reference work for me. Best regards,

Yours sincerely,

Pennsylvania Paper Money

118. The signed bond of Peter Lycan, blacksmith, dated Sept. 9, 1736 to the Trustees of the Pa. Loan-office for twice the sum borrowed in paper currency. Peter borrowed £69 for spending, perhaps to improve his blacksmith shop or buy a small farm. He was responsible for twice that sum.

Colonial Pennsylvania paper money was worth its face value when paper money of the other colonies depreciated to the vanishing point. The reason is found in this document.

Property values rose steadily, loans were paid, foreclosures were seldom made, hence Pennsylvania paper money was sound.

P. 115 11/1/11. I think that instead of describing the P.E. variation by the number of bands we should use filament as we would at a higher level than L.C. times. Very often the borders of these early notes are gone, and the filament designation can be seen at a glance.

P. 227, 11/2/68 In describing the 2 2½ sh. notes, I think it should read: year (100) on 6th line, and: year (100, on 7th line.

Dec. 1971 2nd paragraph of description. I do not agree. All notes of $1 and above have the Ashe or Montfort name, with only 1 exception so far on a $1 note, and I don't think that's an error or perhaps an unissued note. Rather than an endorsement as I've been told, it is a countersignature, such as the one Carter Nicholas on the $1000s. I think he means the same thing, but to my way of thinking an endorsement is used when the note changes, or when it was used to show who passed the note. Also, I do not agree at all with your interpretation of the IAC. Though I found a few notes with it, there are far more without it. In addition, I've found IAC on several other issues, as early as 1740 or 1774, I don't recall which, but in fewer quantities. I don't see that as an interest in the IAC's, but rather we have a good reason as to the actual meaning we should omit it. Finally, I'm more inclined to believe in a more realistic theory that is a reasonable size for a note, and that your's interpretation of the location of the IAC (as forwarded to you previously) is correct. I would like to change the paragraph to read something like this:

[illegible]

Q. Where did you find the INDEPENDENCE case from? Is this a new discovery? It's not very big, but are they so similar, as opposed, and in quantities listed, have we never seen it before? If it is new, and rare, perhaps an explanation could be given. Please try to explain this case with regard to the INDEPENDENCE case.

6/10/64. Remains in light of a good time to note that on occasion the police notes show a crisis in 1963 (1963-1964), especially due to a small number of fire shots that were also noted and out of a small area. I do not know the reasons for this, but have seen several of them, but never a one of the larger ones. Perhaps we should also note this.

Based on the list of names received of which I'm aware (in my 30 yrs. and I'd believe that's a fair long time period of experience) none

Through your mention that original plates exist, I am sure early issues, and some with a circled T which have been reported, will be of a gold leaf color as a variety of camouflaging. Occasionally these reported come on the market?

1. 200 5/3/75 Based on the sale of 4 sales in the MA sale plus a few others, I would change the prices to Good $110. VG $130, and 1st these prices opposite each item listed as well as 'two for each denar' opposite each one listed. Also, in text, mention that this was issued at Providence.

1. 239 6/1/79. Again '2 due dates...' opposite each denom. 135 e. at 245. Unrevised.

P.30L.17 insert 'only on this issue (I inadvertently marked it on the galley)
P.34 the $2/3 counterfeit is only on plate B according to 1st book. The fractional notes in UNC have been bringing unrealistic high prices at auction ($320. & $225). I know that these were legitimate purchases with legitimate underbidders, but don't think that we should show such figures. I'd suggest that we raise the fractionals only in the UNC column to $150. each, which will show their popularity, and we'll still be conservative.

change

P. 35 end of text of 11/2/76 issue change 'probably because.....' to: Unused remainders of the 2/17/76 printing were still available, and were signed for emission with this and subsequent issues. Joe Lassers study of the signatures ~~in~~ shows that the remainders were first used with this issue. I think that we should price the fractionals that have signatures of this and later issues separately. Joe can supply a list of which issues each of these later signers signed.

P.38 Though I feel that the 5/20/77 issue is rarer than the 4/11/78 issue, the Yorktown, evidently because of the name, and the only issue that does not say Philadelphia, has gained a good deal of popularity, hence the great price difference.

Too
limited

42A in text, 1/14/79. Only the left and right border cuts of the C.C. were used as the top and bottom border cuts on the Guaranteed issues. First half of the text of the REDEMPTION is unclear regarding the 5/20/77 and 4/11/78 issues, as well as the 4 6% and 6% deferred bonds. Who were to get which, or were they to be issued in proportion as to the amount redeemed. Have any of these bonds survived? If so, I think that they should be a part of this area of collecting, and should be in the book.

Yes

In the signature listing, wouldn't it be a good idea to show photos of the actual signatures of James and Joseph Wilson, and of the amanuensis of James.

Make
change

The Hillegas appointees and others who signed only the fractional issues that were emitted 11/2/76 and later should not be shown as signing the 2/17/76 issue, but should be shown as signing only the fractional notes that bear that date, as they were actually part of the later emissions, and the earlier dated notes were just used as an expediency. These ~~xxx~~ signatures do not appear on any of the $1. or over of the 2/17/76 issue. I spoke to Joe about this just a little while ago, and he's sending you a list of which signers of these later fractional emissions signed which issues. Then they should be listed as 2/17/76 Fractionals with a code as to the issue it actually belonged to. Once this is done, I think that they should also be listed as fractional emissions under each issue, and priced accordingly.

No

wasn't printed yet.

Also, I think that on page 45A it should also be explained that the date of appointment always followed the date of the issue signed.

* EXCEPT BALTIMORE - WHICH ARE COMPARATIVELY ABUNDANT

VERMONT

Prices realized in recent sales seem to support these prices - BUT, is it advisable to list them when we have several issues of the other States unpriced. This may mislead the public into thinking that unpriced items are worth more than these figures?
